Size of DMV reminder forms decreases

Vehicle owners will be receiving a smaller registration reminder forms beginning July 1, the Division of Motor Vehicles announced.

Most people have become accustomed to receiving in the mail a 8½- by 5-inch folded over vehicle renewal registration form for the past several years. The new form looks similar, but is 6 by 4-inches folded, about 44 percent smaller.

“Although smaller, it contains all the pertinent information for vehicle owners to renew their registration,” said Charlie Roberts, DMV spokesman.

The change was made as a cost savings to Utah taxpayers, Roberts said. The DMV mails about 2.9 million of these forms annually.

Vehicle owners are encouraged to renew their vehicles online at renewalexpress.utah.gov. The individual “PIN” number is located on the inside of the new form.

Owners may also renew registrations at one of about 300 On-the-Spot stations throughout Utah. On-The-Spot renewal stations are emission and safety inspection stations that offer one-stop inspection and registration renewal services.

Last year, over 1 million people visited a DMV office to renew their registration that did not have to be there, Roberts said.

“Utahns have three options to renew their vehicles without visiting a DMV office,” Roberts said. “They can register on-line, renew at an On-the-Spot station, or by traditional mail.”

Owners of vehicles are reminded that the Legislature approved a $20 increase in the motor vehicle registration fee beginning July 1. These funds will be transferred to the Utah Department of Transportation for road construction.
